

Barron McCann, a name that will be well-known to retailers for its point-of-sale systems, has appointed ByBox to handle distribution of parts to its field engineers. 2256

ByBox aspires to offer a 100 per cent guaranteed delivery service, using its network of 14,000 drop boxes at 750 locations across the UK. Deliveries are left in the secure box banks, and a text message is sent to let recipients know the delivery has been made.

Barron McCann maintains EPOS systems for some of the biggest high-street retailers. Lesley Tovey says it needed a partner to distribute parts to its team of field engineers and offer a return link.

● ByBox says it has lately picked up four other new delivery contracts, which when combined with the Barron McCann operation will be worth £10 million over the next three years.
