Overnight parts distribution company ByBox has moved to a super-sized new 14,000 sq ft distribution centre in Glasgow.

It marks a huge expansion for the ambitious firm, which previously had its distribution facility situated in 4,000 sq ft premises in Cumbernauld, North Lanarkshire.

The move comes in response to the company's continued growth and expansion acquired through new contract wins with the likes of Coca-Cola, telent and more recently Fujitsu.

The firm, which has a total of nine depots across the UK, was formed in 2000 and today has a network of 14,000 boxes based at 750 locations across the UK.

It offers an extensive range of distribution platforms for organisations, firms and individuals and investment with innovation and technology underpinning its success.
