

Blackstripe™ returns

A bespoke black stripe label to identify your returns

Key benefits

- Greater accountability of stock in the field
- Faster returns loop
- Reduced stock holding, releasing working capital
- Visibility of exactly which stock items have not yet been returned
- Zero system integration required

How it works

Wouldn't it be great if you could have single label tracking? One number to track an item out and back? ByBox Blackstripe™ does exactly that.

Simply stick a ByBox Blackstripe™ across the original delivery label and it is transformed into a return label. The 2D barcode in the Blackstripe™ label tells the ByBox scanning system that it is a return and dynamically routes it back to the originator.

It is a closed loop process, enabling you to see exactly which items have not yet been returned and requires zero system changes for you.

If required, the ByBox Customer Support team will proactively call engineers who are late with their returns.

Financial considerations

- What percentage of outgoing stock is returned successfully?
- How long does it take to return items from the start of the returns process?
- Are you penalised if you do not return items back to your supplier within an agreed timescale?
- Do you spend time chasing your field force to return items more promptly?
- Is the current returns process easy for the field force to use or do they find it complicated?
- Would you like to have complete visibility of stock out and stock in?

We can manage your whole supply chain process from start to finish.
